

THE EVENING BULLETIN

MONDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1885.

The Grant Monument Fund in New York amounts to $60,000.

The Democrats of Harrison County will hold a primary election next Wednesday to select nominees for the county offices to be voted for next August.

This report comes from Washington that the President will not visit Richmond, Va., for fear that the visit might be thought an interference with State politics.

The small-pox plague is evidently spreading and gaining a fast hold in this country. Four cases are reported at Eaton Camp, Michigan, which are directly traceable to Montreal.

The Louisville Post in speaking of the Ohio election says: "The defeat of the Democrats in the Buckeye State can scarcely be construed as a rebuke to the national administration, because it has not exercised itself in the usual way to secure a partisan success; at the same time it is full of suggestion and warning to the President as to the fate that is liable to overtake his party unless some departure is made from his present ideas."

No explanation of Democratic defeat in the Buckeye State is required. Ohio is naturally Republican, and it is only when there is dissatisfaction within that party that the Democrats have been victorious. The vigor of Governor Hooley's campaign had led his friends to believe he would be elected, and this impression became conviction in the latter days of the fight. That he was unsuccessful should not depress Democratic hearts in other States.—[Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot.]

The Cincinnati Price Current of Thursday in speaking of the hog market says: "The number of hogs packed in the West last week, 145,000, compared with a similar number last year. Total from March 1 to date is 4,175,000, against 3,625,000 a year ago. The movement at various cities since March 1 is as follows: Chicago, 2,175,000; Kansas City, 710,000; Milwaukee, 191,000; Cedar Rapids, 164,000; St. Louis, 163,000; Indianapolis, 161,000; Cleveland, 126,000; Cincinnati, 103,000."

The New York World says: "The Republicans are just now very sure of carrying New York in November, because they have carried Ohio in October. Have they forgotten that Ohio gave a Republican majority last year in October and that New York was carried by Cleveland in November? Can they recall 1875, when the Republicans carried Ohio in October and the Democrats carried New York in November? And 1876, when after a Republican October majority in Ohio, the Democratic November majority was nearly 33,000? New York does her own thinking."

Says Bill Nye: "Don't attempt to cheat an editor out of a year's subscription to his paper, or any other sum. Cheat the minister, cheat the doctor, cheat anybody and everybody, if you have any regard for the future consequence, don't fool the editor. You will be up for office some time, or want some public favor for yourself or some of your friends, and when your luck is a thing of beauty and joy forever," the editor will open up on you and knock your air castle into a cocked hat at the first fire. He'll subdue you, and then you'll curse your stupidity for a driving idiot, go and hire some man to knock you down and kick you for failing."

Some of our exchanges are already philosophizing over the Ohio election and explaining the cause of Hooley's defeat. One of the leading Republican papers has the following:

"First—Hooley's agency in the pardon of Muller, the Cincinnati police Lieutenant who was convicted of interfering with the election in that city last November, and his written request that the offender be reinstated in office, caused the loss of a large number of colored votes which were cast for Hooley in 1883. It will be remembered that Muller procured the arrest of 113 colored Republicans, and caused their detention in prison until after the elections were over in November, 1884."

Second—Hooley, in his campaign speeches, gave the temperance element a slap in the face, and rashly abandoned this powerful class when the liquor question had become one of the vital points in the campaign. He denounced local option as sumptuary and unjust, and approved the Republican policy of licensing and regulating the liquor traffic to such a radical extent as to lose the votes of the temperance Democrats, and thus made good the losses to Republicans caused by the detection of Republicans prohibitionists to Leopold.

Third—His defense and indorsement of the "Coal oil" Legislature, whose corruption and extravagance are a by-word in the mouths of all the honest citizens of Ohio, irrespective of party, lost him not less than 5,000 votes."

GONE TO "GLORY."

A Negro Wife-Murderer Hung—He Speaks of His Crime—The Drunkenness of

ATLANTA.—One of the negroes in McGaughey, a negro was hung in Monroe for the murder of his wife. By 8 o'clock the town began to fill with people from the surrounding country. At 11 o'clock the long procession began to move from the gallows. The murderer was seen in a spring wagon sitting on his coffin. The gallows was placed in the northern suburb of the town and well boxed up by a high plank enclosure twenty-five feet high. McGaughey had but little to say on the way to the gallows, telling everyone he was ready.

At the gallows he stood up in the wagon, showing not the least signs of fear. He was in a racing attitude, shouting, "Want you all to come in to me now. Raise my arm right. Never marry a black woman. See what one has brought me to. Be the woman loves you before you marry her. God has pardoned my sins. I am a sinner."

A colored minister prayed and they sang the hymn "Why Should I Die?" The prisoner joined in the song and his voice was heard above all others. He got out of the wagon and climbed up on a seat without any help. At 12 o'clock the drop occurred and the victim died without a struggle.

GHASTLY FIND.

Children Discover a Box in a Reservoir Containing Nine Dead Bodies.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Oct. 19.—In Derryville, a little village where nine little children were found dead in a box about ten by twenty feet, in the rear of the town house along side the Illinois Central's track, where they drove from the water a tin boy having a glass top. They opened it and found it filled with objects from six to eighteen inches in length, which they could not identify. That they scattered on the ground.

An examination discovered each to be an infant, the infants in process of formation nine months in age.

Each embryo child had arms, legs, head, trunk, etc., and one had a little hair on its head. The box had been air tight and had contained no water.

It had been constantly washed by the spring which furnishes Derryville's water supply. Suspicion attaches to a physician who removed about two years ago from Derryville to Nebraska, and who lived on the prairie where the bodies were found. He did not enjoy a very good reputation, and was suspected of being a mal-practitioner.

Eastern (Ky.) Lunatic Asylum—Investigating Charges Against the Superintendent.

Some time ago charges were made of alleged improper conduct on the part of Superintendent Cheanuit, of the Eastern (Ky.) Lunatic Asylum at Lexington, towards some of the unfortunate inmates of that institution. The charges came to the ears of the Commissioners of the asylum, and an investigation is now in progress. A telegram to the Courier-Journal in speaking of the investigation says:

"Fancy Little, the first witness called, testifying to similar conduct on the part of Dr. Cheanuit toward female employees; that she had seen him drunk and that he insulted and threatened her, and that he had a secret of the new wing, whom he represented as being the most dangerous. Dr. Cheanuit came from the room of a female employee; a few minutes after another employee, a woman, came from the same room, and at the same woman's door, talking in the hall, between two and three hours past, and the general talk of these things before, as she feared to lose her life, she fled from the building, and she could not retain; the fear of discharge held the employee generally."

Plaintiff stated that she had twice seen a nymphomanic sitting on Dr. Cheanuit's desk, and that he had been stroking his head as he lay on a lounge. She also said she had seen another patient kissing him, and that he had been seen to kiss a woman at least as often as six or seven times the same day; he was always in a drunken condition, was always in a disheveled state, and seemed to enjoy their company. She only knew him guilty of any girl thrown into the back hall for crying, and learned to love him, if it was not for the fact that she was a poor woman with three children to support and educate by her.

Miss Thornton knew nothing of masters at the asylum since her investigation, and her testimony was excluded. Mrs. Neal related what Dr. Cheanuit had told her about the house and throwing a female patient out of the door. The investigation is proceeding to-night.

A CARD.

Editor BULLETIN:

My attention was recently called to an article headed "Barefaced," published in the Advertiser on the 29th of last month in which you said I had been for some time following up fairs and working the "shuttle racket" on our "country cousins." I wish, through the BULLETIN, to assure the good people of this country that I do not work the "shuttle racket" and have not been accustomed to following up fairs and playing tricks of any kind on the people. I have never been in a troupe myself, and have no desire to be, nor to play there was nothing criminal in what I did on the occasion referred to in your article. Respectfully yours,

ALVONUS BROPHY.

The statement referred to in Mr. Brophy's card was furnished the BULLETIN by detective Hefflin, and it was given as such in the article of September 29th.

The citizens of Burlington, Boone County, are terribly incensed at the acquittal of a man named Clore, for the murder of Foster, a blacksmith, and his family, at Frankfort. It is reported that he does not suffer from any physical infirmity. I know nothing about the "shuttle racket," and have not been accustomed to following up fairs and playing tricks of any kind on the people. I have never been in a troupe myself, and have no desire to be, nor to play there was nothing criminal in what I did on the occasion referred to in your article. Respectfully yours,

ALVONUS BROPHY.

The statement referred to in Mr. Brophy's card was furnished the BULLETIN by detective Hefflin, and it was given as such in the article of September 29th.

Upon investigation, however, we find that Mr. Brophy has always borne an excellent reputation as a peaceful and law-abiding citizen at his home in Covington, as we have seen testimonials that effect from the Mayor and Chief of Police of that city. The statement was calculated to injure Mr. Brophy, and as the BULLETIN never intentionally wrongs any one, we gladly make the correction.

The Clark County Democrat says: "A man was in the city last week working on a scheme which is considered by most of our citizens as a fraud. His manner of working said scheme is to gain admittance into a school, make an appeal to the children and give a slip containing the following to each of the pupils and in every case impresses said pupil to return the slip the next morning."

THE PARENTS: A beautiful home has been purchased at Versailles, Ohio, for the use of the orphan children. An appeal is made to the State to ask for the payment of the building expenses. The institution is to be called "The Orphan House." As parents you are asked to give your children to give some of them a home where they may be happy and comfortable, and to help to make the world a better and more beautiful place. What a sweet and pleasant sounding name. Who can say no? This twenty-five cents will receive a beautiful photograph of the institution.

G. W. MCWHERTER, Superintendent.

We doubt very much whether or not there is such an institution in the State of Ohio. The party meets with considerable success in every town he visits."

A CLARK COUNTY man slipped out of his clothes and swam the Kentucky River after a bull that had escaped across the river. It was a nip and tuck between them for a mile, he thinking every moment he would head the animal." When suddenly turning a short bend in a path through the bushes, they ran upon three women gathering black haws. The women went in one direction, the bull in another and the man in another. The bushes could be heard crackling in all directions for ten minutes.—[Bourbon News.]

You Mean Business?

Well, if you have strength to push your business, it is well. But many a man's business has broken down because the man was broken down, and had no push in him. If you want to make a success, build up your system by the use of Brown's Iron Bitters. Mr. W. M. Winfree, of Petersburg Va., says: "There is no medicine equal to Brown's Iron Bitters for general debility." It cures dyspepsia, enriches the blood, and strengthens the muscles.

PERSONAL.

Mr. C. A. Bettinger, of Hartford City, W. Va., is in town on business.

Mr. Roby McCall, of the steamer Bonanza, is spending a few days in this city. Colonel Matt Walton, of Lexington, was the guest of Dr. J. M. Frazer and family Sunday afternoon.

Mr. W. H. Lynch returned last Saturday from Hamilton, Ont., where he has been representing the Knights of Labor of this city, at the meeting of the Grand Lodge of that order.

We clip the following from the editorial correspondence of the Bedford (Ind.) Democrat: "There are four papers published in Mayville, and one daily, also two large job offices, all doing a flourishing business. It is also the home of Hon. J. D. Kehoe, who represented Mason County in the State legislature, and we doubt not represent him district in Congress, as we are informed he is the most popular Irishman in Kentucky, and we hope he will be victorious."

The American Ariana says: "The Chicago Gas Light and Coke Company give notice that beginning November 1st, next, gas will be supplied to its patrons at the net price of one dollar per thousand feet. This is a very low rate and will doubtless, have the effect to increase the use of gas for lighting, and very considerably increase its use for fuel. At this price and with proper stoves, the use for fuel is economical, and will, doubtless, become much more common than heretofore."

OYSTERS IN THE GALE.

BEDS COVERED WITH SAND AND THE BIVALVES SMOTHERED.

Many Hundred Thousand Dollars' Worth Raised in a Single Night—How Growers Tend Them—The Cost an Acre. War Waged on Cruel Starfish.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 19.—There is much excitement among the oyster growers in this vicinity on the account of the damage done to their extensive oyster beds, which lie off Milford, Stratford, Bridgeport, Black Rock, Fairfield, Southport and Norwalk. The beds on the Connecticut River, Long Island Sound and New Haven thousand acres of oyster farms in various stages of cultivation by individual owners who have purchased the territory from the state. The damage to a large portion of the crop was caused by the recent violent tides. The heavy waves have subsided sufficiently for the various oyster crafts to venture out and make a hasty examination.

Steiners and sailing vessels were thickly scattered over the beds, and the boats constantly at work taking up oysters. Beds located three to six miles off shore are not harmed, the violent action of the sea not reaching so far to the bottom. The oysters three years growth have been stoned and shifted some. Near shore the bottom has been covered with a thin layer of sand, which, where it covers oysters of one and two years growth, will smother them also before they spoil the crop. The extent of the damage can be realized when it is stated that the yield of so small a portion as an acre amounts to several thousand dollars, upon which much has just been planted will suffer most. These beds have been covered during the last summer with a thin coating of shells and stones, and within the past two weeks many of the larger ones have been again planted on adjoining beds. Where a strata of sand even an inch in depth has drifted to these grounds the results will be disastrous and the work of months rendered to no profit.

Specimens of the sound bottom taken up disclose the fact that millions of starfish, which have proved a great enemy to the oyster, have been destroyed by the gleaning action of the oysters and shells on the bottom, while large numbers have been driven off the private oyster beds. Whether these starfish will find lodgment on oyster beds is to be seen. One Oyster man, who owns more than 1,000 acres of ground, said that his beds had been damaged by sand to the extent of $75,000, and he believed other growers lost as heavily. He had been offered $500 for the removal of starfish traps $500 on his twenty beds. The growers keep steamers constantly at work removing oysters from one bed to another to evade the vagaries of nature. The oysters are taken up by the dredges all the starfish captured are picked out and placed in large tubs. The oysters are then taken to another section of land and deposited where there are no starfish in the company. At the close of the day's work steam from the boiler is turned on the starfish to kill them, and then they are thrown overboard. If five bushels of the oysters are destroyed by a steamer in a day the cost of fares on the time will speak. More than fifty small steamers are here engaged in taking up the bivalves or market. The oysters are marketable when four years old.

GREENERY ED.

Another Ohio Murderer Expires His Crime at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 19.—Frederick Greiner, who murdered his sweetheart Margaret Seeing, September 5, 1884, was executed at the state jail here yesterday morning. He went to his fate all along and went to the scaffold smiling and smoking a cigar. When on the scaffold at 11:40 he was asked if he had anything to say, whereupon he said:

"Goodby to all. May God have mercy on my soul."

The noose was then adjusted by Deputy Sheriff Shadwell, at 11:42 the drop fell, striking his feet and the condemned man was pronounced dead, death resulting from strangulation. The body was taken in charge by the undertaker and will be buried at Greenlawn cemetery. The only relatives or friends present were Mrs. Greiner, his mother, who is employed as a domestic at one of the hotels here. His parents are said to be well-to-do and respected people in the old country.

'LONGSHORE LUBBERS.

Strike of the White Men for Equal Wages Night and Day.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 19.—The wages of longshoremen here have been forty cents per hour for dock work, and sixty cents for night work. About one hundred and fifty of them demanded of the Mallory steamship line, that the price be made fifty cents both day and night. This was refused, and the men struck.

The agent has decided to make the basis demanded, but has applied to the colored union to furnish the men, thereby refusing work to the white men. Serious trouble is anticipated. The white longshoremen do declare that they will force to resist the employment of negroes. The longshoremen's association, white, is the most powerful labor organization in the city, numbering six hundred.

Assassination.

DODGE CITY, Okla., Oct. 19.—"Ed" Osborn, a son-lover keeper at the village of Trenton, Wayne county, closed his place of business and started for his boarding house. Before he reached home some unknown assassin came behind and shot him dead on the street, the bullet entering back of his neck and severing the jugular vein. The shot was heard by persons in the neighborhood, but no attention was paid to it until the corpse was found. It was about an hour later. Osborn was about thirty years old and unmarried. Ed Flaherty, an employee at the stables will be arrested on suspicion.

Political Correspondence.

Washington, Oct. 19.—A correspondence is published between Congressman P. A. Collins, chairman of the Democratic state committee, and the Hon. Alanson W. B. Reed, Republican candidate for treasurer of the commonwealth. Under date of October 15, Mr. Collins writes to Mr. Reed, saying: "Dear Sir: Henry M. Cross, the Democratic candidate for treasurer, in joint discussion of the political questions of the day. In his reply Mr. Reed was very explicit in his statement, saying that his office of treasurer was closely connected with politics to make such joint discussion important or interesting.
